

Privacy Policy

Statistical Information Collected

We do not collect any personally identifiable information about a user visit unless provided voluntarily by the user in order to receive more information about our services.

We occasionally collect electronically generated information about user visits to our site. This may including date and pages visited. The primary purpose of this information is to make the site more effective and to improve the overall usability.

Disclosure of Information to Third Parties

We do not distribute or sell any information collected through our website to any third parties. We are committed to safeguarding any information you have provided to us.
